Support, Advising and Tutoring from faculty who care about your education and help you grow.

The Division of General Studies at Morris College offers students, through its core curriculum of liberal arts courses, an opportunity to improve their learning skills and master the content necessary for success in major courses.
Special programs in Morris College’s Division of General Studies help you build confidence in your academic achievements. These programs include the Academic Success Center, where tutorial assistance is offered in reading, writing, math, and speech. Tutoring is available from faculty members, peer tutors, and tutoring specialists in Student Support Services.

The Division of General Studies is the academic home for freshmen and sophomores at Morris College.

The Freshman Extravaganza is designed to give gifted and talented students an opportunity to exercise, exhibit, and strengthen their talents and enhance their confidence. The Parade of Stars, like the Extravaganza for freshmen, is also designed to give gifted and talented sophomore students an opportunity to exercise, exhibit, and strengthen their talents and enhance their confidence. Sophomores’ performances also include dramatic monologues, drama, music, and dance.

The Bell Ringer is a student-oriented publication designed as a medium in which freshmen can display and enhance their literary potential in prose and poetry. "Dear Bess" is a literary magazine and newsletter for sophomores.

The Honors Program is implemented through Honors sections of regular courses. Special Honors Seminars provide an environment conducive to intellectual stimulation and growth. Students who are admitted to the program automatically become members of R.A.R.E.—Reinforcers, Achievers, and Representatives of Excellence. R.A.R.E. members sponsor forums, symposia, and other activities. They also participate in regional and national conferences.
