

Assistant/Associate Professor of Early Childhood Education

The selected candidate will teach 12 to 15 credit hours of undergraduate level courses each semester from the college's curriculum in the Early Childhood major program, participate in professional meetings and conduct scholarly research. Additional duties include providing academic advising to students, supervision of student research as well as pre-professional field experiences and other requirements leading to professional licensure, and service on various college committees.

A Master's degree in Education with certification in Early Childhood is the minimum qualification for this position. However, an earned doctorate in Education with a specialty in Early Childhood along with previous college-level teaching experience is strongly preferred.
